§ 21F. Licensing of Clubs, Societies, Associations, or Other Organizations — Penalties.

Any officer or employee of any such organization who dispenses or causes to be dispensed any food or beverage on its premises, unless such organization is then licensed under section twenty-one E, shall be punished by a fine of not more than one hundred dollars for the first or second offence and by such fine and imprisonment for not more than three months for each subsequent offence. If any officer or employee of any such organization which is incorporated is convicted of any offence under this section, the selectmen, or the aldermen, in the place where such organization is situated, except Boston, and in Boston the police commissioner, shall immediately give notice to the state secretary, who, upon receipt thereof, shall declare the charter of such organization void, and shall publish a notice in at least one newspaper published in the county where such organization is located that such incorporation is void and of no further effect.

Editorial Note—
Acts 1933, 264, enacted this section.

§ 22. Lodging House.

“Lodging house”, as used in sections twenty-two to thirty-one, inclusive, shall mean a house where lodgings are let to four or more persons not within second degree of kin to the person conducting it, and shall include fraternity houses and dormitories of educational institutions, but shall not include dormitories of charitable or philanthropic institutions or convalescent or nursing homes licensed under section seventy-one of chapter one hundred and eleven or rest homes so licensed, or group residences licensed or regulated by agencies of the commonwealth.

HISTORY:
1918, 259, § 1 ; 1960, 740 ; 1965, 171 ; 1973, 481.

Editorial Note—
Acts 1918, 259, § 1, enacted this section.

While the purpose of the provisions of ALM GL c 140, §§ 22–32 may be largely the prevention of immoral conduct, the definition of “lodging house” in the instant section is broad enough to include nursing and convalescent homes run for profit, the requirements of §§ 23–32 are not necessarily plain, and inappropriate to such homes, and in the absence of any statutory provision exempting such establishments from the requirements of §§ 23–32, they must be taken to exclude the scope of the definition of this section, and the fact that a particular house provided lodging as well as nursing and convalescent care to persons of advanced age who were convalescing from illness did not make the premises any less a lodging house within the instant section. Maher v. Brookline (Mass. 1959), 339 Mass. 209, 158 N.E.2d 320, 196 Mass. LEXIS 189.

Upon an issue as to whether a building containing 10 bedrooms and 2 utility rooms on a basement floor, and 12 bedrooms on each of 2 upper floors was a lodging house for purposes of a zoning ordinance or a motel, it was stated that the dictionary definition of “lodging” is “accommodation in a house, esp. in rooms for rent” and the definition of “lodging house” is “a house in which lodgers are let, esp. a house other than an inn or hotel”. Accordingly the court determined, referring to the instant section, that the house was adapted for use as lodging house but that whether it would be used as such could not be determined until the building was actually put into use. Selvetti v. Building Inspector of Revere (Mass. 1967), 333 Mass. 645, 233 N.E.2d 915, 1968 Mass. LEXIS 706.

A lodging house implies a degree of permanence in its occupancy at least as distinguished from the transient nature of the occupations of hotels and motels, and the distinction being sufficiently defined in the instant section as compared with the motel in ALM GL c 140, § 32 building which provides accommodations for transient individuals, whether a building which we use either as a lodging house was used as a lodging house or not, the purpose of which purposes would depend on the needs of the occupants would remain intact for extended periods of time. Selvetti v. Building Inspector of Revere (Mass. 1967), 333 Mass. 645, 233 N.E.2d 915, 1968 Mass. LEXIS 706.

A building with respect to airline and an airline pilot had made arrangements on the basis of rotating occupancy by flight crews based on which flight crews of an airline had a similar but less familiar arrangement, and in which the flight crews occupied on a seasonal or occasional basis horse racing personnel, or that they were not “lodging houses” as to which the employees of the company had no such arrangement as to be considered as such. Selvetti v. Building Inspector of Revere (Mass. 1969), 356 Mass. 794, 256 N.E.2d 474, 1969 Mass. LEXIS 196.

Judgments enjoining the enforcing of the provisions of the law in each of their apartments were sustained because the apartments were not “lodging houses” so as to render them subject to the provisions of the law.

§ 24. Lodging House — Licensing — Penalties.

Whoever conducts a lodging house without a license shall be punished by a fine of not less than one hundred nor more than five hundred dollars or by imprisonment for not more than three months, or both. Upon the complaint of an aggrieved party, the licensing authority or an officer of a city or town wherein such unlicensed lodging house is conducted, a justice of the housing court division or the superior court division of the trial court, may enjoin the conducting of any unlicensed lodging house and may make such other orders as the court may deem equitable to enforce the provisions of sections twenty-two to thirty-one, inclusive.

HISTORY:

Editorial Note—
Acts 1918, 259, § 8, enacted this section.
The 1980 amendment added a sentence relative to the enforcement of the licensing provisions of lodging houses.

The 1982 amendment made a corrective change to the last sentence of the section, replacing the word "of" with "or" after the words "justice of the housing court division".

§ 25. Lodging House — Inspection.

Premises occupied, used or controlled by a licensee under sections twenty-two to thirty-one, inclusive, or under an innholder’s license shall be subject to inspection by the licensing authorities and their authorized agents, and by the police on request from the licensing authorities.

HISTORY:
1918, 259, § 3.

Editorial Note—
Acts 1918, 259, § 3, enacted this section.

Whoever, being licensed as a lodging house keeper under sections twenty-two to thirty-one, inclusive, or as an innholder, or, being licensed under sections thirty-two A to thirty-two E, inclusive, or being in actual charge, management or control of such lodging house, inn or premises for which the license is issued, knowingly permits the property under his control to be used for the purpose of immoral solicitation, immoral bargaining or immoral conduct shall be punished by a fine of not less than five hundred nor more than one thousand dollars or by imprisonment for not less than six months nor more than one year, or both. Evidence that a room in a hotel or lodging house or that the premises licensed under sections thirty-two A to thirty-two E, inclusive, were not actually used for immoral conduct shall not prevent a conviction under this section of a person in actual charge, control or management of the hotel, lodging house or premises who permits the occupation of such a room or such premises knowing or having good reason to know that the person occupying such room or premises intends to use either for immoral solicitation, immoral bargaining or immoral conduct. If it is required that registers be kept, as provided in sections twenty-seven and twenty-eight, evidence that the person in actual charge, control or management of the hotel, lodging house or premises has knowingly permitted the occupation of a private room of less than four hundred square feet floor area or of premises, containing a bed or couch, by the same woman on different occasions within a period of thirty days with different men, or by the same man on different occasions within a period of thirty days with different women, shall be prima facie evidence of a violation of this section.

CASE NOTES

The evidence clearly warranted findings that the rooms of the defendant's hotel were used for immoral conduct and that guests on several occasions registered under false names. But more than this must be proved in order to convict the defendant. There must be evidence that the defendant "knowingly" permitted these things to be done. Commonwealth v. Altenhaus (Mass. 1944), 317 Mass. 270, 57 N.E.2d 921, 1944 Mass. LEXIS 847.

§ 27. Innholder — Register.

Every innholder, and every lodging house keeper required so to do under section twenty-eight, and every person who shall conduct, control, manage or operate, directly or indirectly, any recreational camp, overnight camp or cabin, motel or manufactured housing community shall keep or cause to be kept, in permanent form, a register in which shall be recorded the true name or name in ordinary use and the residence of every person engaging or occupying a private room averaging less than four hundred square feet floor area, excepting a private dining room not containing a bed or couch, or opening into a room containing a bed or couch, for any period of the day or night in any part of the premises controlled by the licensee, together with a true and accurate record of the room assigned to such person and of the day and hour when such room is assigned. The entry of the names of the person engaging a room and of the occupants of said room shall be made by said person engaging said room or by an occupant thereof, except that when five or more members of a business, fraternal, or social group or other group having a common interest are engaging rooms, they may designate one person to make said entry on their behalf and prior to occupancy. Until the entry of such name and the record of the room has been made, such person shall not be allowed to occupy privately any room upon the licensed premises. Such register shall be retained by the holder of the license for a period of at least one year after the date of the last entry therein, and shall be open to the inspection of the licensing authorities, their agents and the police. Whoever violates any provision of this section shall be punished by a fine of not less than one hundred nor more than five hundred dollars or by imprisonment for not more than three months, or both.

Acts 1918, 259, §§ 5, 8, enacted this section.

The 1975 amendment rewrote the second sentence, adding provisions relative to pre-registration of groups.

CASE NOTES

Hotel guests, having duly registered and been put in possession of a room for their exclusive use, had the right of occupation for all lawful purposes until vacated, subject only to the access of the hotel manager at reasonable times, and in a proper manner, for such purposes as might be necessary in the general management of the hotel, or upon the happening of some unanticipated, controlling emergency.
